

Challenging the Binary

Non-binary, genderqueer, and gender-neutral language

International conference

13–15 June 2023, University College London

Programme

- All talks are in room 1.02 Malet Place Engineering Building, UCL, London, WC1E 6BT, unless otherwise indicated.
- The breaks are in room 1.20 Malet Place Engineering Building.
- The talks marked in grey are delivered online. The other talks are delivered on site at UCL. All talks can be viewed on Zoom in line with the hybrid format.

Day 1: Tuesday 13 June

Day 2: Wednesday 14 June

9.30-10.30

Challenging the binary in endangered and minoritized languages

Chair: Fabian Helmrich (University of Oxford)

Craig Welker (Universität Bern): Grammatical gender and Muxe reference in

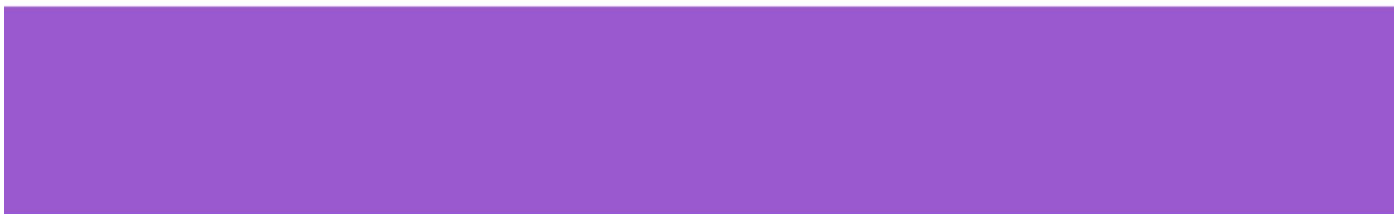

Brittney O'Neill (York University): Degendering and (de)politicization – gender-focussed language reform in a North American social partner dance community

Samu/elle Striewski (Columbia University and Freie Universität Berlin): Inhabiting the untranslatable – why the linguistic recognition of non-binary identities is determined to fail

9.00-10.30

Gender inclusivity in European state languages

HAPPY PRIDE MONTH 2023!

